| SLIC had queries as under
  - In case of emergency involving Domestic violence case, whether the matter could be reported to the police.
  - The Delhi police initiative for senior citizens—whether such initiative could be avail by refugees as well. | In matter related to domestic violence, the police can take the complaint but the complaint should be addressed to the Magistrate/DLSA. Depending upon the nature of the case, the police will accordingly take step however, for core matrimonial issue, DLSA should be contacted.
Regarding Senior citizen, the programme is | solely meant for senior citizen who is living alone or with spouse. The chowk-in-charge was not sure whether refugees could also avail the provision.

BOSCO shared about challenges faced when refugee do not want to file police complaint when incident happens. Such as, in case of child sexual abuse when parents are unwilling to seek police complaint or in generally when victim do not want police complaint.

BOSCO also wanted to know the procedure of dealing with missing (person) complaint.

In such matter, victim should be encouraged to come forward for police complaint and POCSO talks of mandatory reporting.

If complaint is not lodged or not make known to the police, the issue will be left unaddressed and no action could be taken.

In case of missing complaint, police generally take detail information of the missing person including photograph to be published or telecast in newspapers or TV etc as a procedure to trace the person.

The police gave instruction on preventive measure to be followed in case of snatching incident. To avert any snatching incident, the police suggested that person (especially women) should hold their mobile phone/articles tightly while commuting in public and be alert at all times.

The police also talked about the challenging and demanding job that they have to perform. After 16 hours of hard work, if a person approaches police for complaint and if not satisfy with his/her complaint then, police is blamed. Nevertheless, the police encouraged the refugees to contact them for any complaint and assured full cooperation in the matter. The police stressed that the society mind-set to avoid police involvement in legal matters should be clarified and curtailed. The chowki in-charge was open to meeting the refugees periodically for any legal problem.

The refugee representatives thanked the police for the support and to the Government of India for allowing stay in the country.
